ATTENDANCE in the early grades

Many of our youngest students miss 10 percent of the school year—about 18 days a year or just two days every month. Chronic absenteeism in kindergarten and even first grade predicts lower test scores, poor attendance and retention in later grades, especially if the problem persists for more than a year. Do you know how many young children are chronically absent in your school or community?

Who Is Affected
Kindergarten and 1st grade classes often have absenteeism rates as high as those in high school. Many of these absences are excused, but they still add up to lost time in the classroom.

1. In 10 Kids in kindergarten and 1st grade are chronically absent, in some schools, it's as high as 1 in 4!

2. In 10 low-income kids miss too much school. They're also more likely to suffer academically.

2-5 in 10 homeless kids are chronically absent.

4 in 10 transient kids miss too much school when families move.

Why It Matters
If children don't show up for school regularly, they miss out on fundamental reading and math skills and the chance to build a habit of good attendance that will carry them into college and careers.

Provisionary data from a California study found that children who were chronically absent in kindergarten and 1st grade were far less likely to read proficiently at the end of 3rd grade.

Who Can Read on Grade Level After 3rd Grade?

- 10% of kids with good attendance in K and 1st (missed 9 or fewer days into year)
- 40% of kids with at-risk attendance (missed more than 9 days into year)
- 41% of kids chronically absent in K or 1st (missed 10 or more days into year)
- 13% of kids chronically absent in K and 1st (missed 18 or more days into year)

What We Can Do

- Engage Families
Many parents and students don't realize how quickly early absences can add up to academic trouble. Community members and teachers can educate families and build a culture of attendance through early outreach, incentives and attention to date.
- Fix Transportation
The lack of a reliable car, or simply missing the school bus, can mean some students don't make it to class. Schools, transit agencies and community partners can organize car pools, supply bus passes or find other ways to get kids to school.
- Address Health Needs
Health concerns, particularly asthma and dental problems, are among the leading reasons students miss school in the early grades. Schools and medical providers can work together to give children and families health care and advice.
- Track the Right Data
Schools too often overlook chronic absence because they track average attendance or unexcused absences, not how many kids miss too many days for any reason. Attendance Works has free data-tracking tools.

There are a few steps that communities and schools can take. How do you think you can help?

Absences Add up!

Missing just 2 days a month means a child misses 10% of the school year.

Hi! I'm Emryle and I am running for an office position for the 3rd time in my high school career. Over these years I've been very much involved in the events of my class, I've been able to converse and meet with many of my peers as an officer. But what I take away most of all from this is the experience! During the time I've learned much about my duties as President and what works best for our class. With the knowledge I have from the past and after much reflection, I've also incorporated new ideas and plans to better suit our needs as the Class Of 2022. I want this year to be the best one yet!

Vote Emryle Martinez for an Experienced Candidate!
